

The Downtowners

The Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Downtowners is Robert Kutschbach. Bob has been actively involved in the work of the Downtowners for several years and has served on the Board of Directors since 1977. Bob's association with The Downtowners began while he was a student at Franklin University. He was first elected to serve as a student delegate to the Board. Subsequently, he has represented the business community at large and has represented First Congregational Church. Bob has served the Downtowners as its Treasurer, and most recently was Chairman of the Search Committee that was responsible for hiring the Downtowners' new Executive Director.

Bob is associated with Society Bank as Regional Audit Manager. His professional and community affiliations include the Institute of Internal Auditors, Internal Audit Division of the Financial Managers Society, and First Congregational Church. Bob and his wife Sally reside in north Columbus.

Mark Twain once remarked that the winter doldrums of New England produced artists and poets because the very nature of the season caused a person to reflect and look inward for their own resources. Whatever merit there is in Twain's musings, the students on the downtown campuses certainly have been resourceful enough through Columbus' winter days, if only in figuring out how to stay alive! Future nurses, artists, skilled technicians, accountants, lawyers, cosmetologists, and businessmen could be seen emerging from behind heaps of snow and ice waiting for busses, rushing to classes between traffic lights, sitting at the potter's wheel, styling hair and uplifting spirits, balancing classes, and at bedsides in Nurses' training. More than once I thought to myself, "What resourceful winter people! Columbus, we are making you great!"

A man came into my office one day after having spent a night in Open Shelter. It was a freezing day. He had never been poor before. He was trying 'to get used to it,' he said. Open Shelter had asked The Downtowners for help in working with people in need. Could you contact me at 224-1155 if you would be interested in helping out? Also, we have received a request to assist with an arts festival for handicapped children, as well as a request to teach English to refugees settling in Columbus.

Hope to be hearing from you

Ellen O'Shaughnessy

P.S. I met with the Pastors of the Downtown churches on the ninth of February. They assured The Downtowners of their support and availability to students. If you wish to connect with any of them or their communities, but need an entree, The Downtowners may be able to help you meet someone from any of the congregations.

WELCOME TO THE CHURCH(S) OF YOUR CHOICE!

The pastors and their communities of the Downtown area extend a warm welcome to the students of the Downtown area. Feel free to call any one (or several). A great interfaith experience awaits you if you desire to attend several different congregations. We have a vibrant church community in the downtown area. The worship services extend to the rest of the week through services to the city's people. Call The Downtowners if you desire further information.

As a one time service to first year students in the Downtowners community, the OSU DOWNTOWN OPTOMETRY CLINIC is offering a complete optometric examination for $10 (1/4 the normal fee). Services are provided by OSU optometry students under the direct supervision of licensed optometry faculty. An ID card must be shown by each first year student as proof of enrollment in the respective schools.

Screenings are held every 1st Thursday of each month from 8:30 - 11:00 AM (the next date is March 4), in room 048, Union Hall, on the Campus of CTI. Call 422-9677 for more information.

Center for New Directions, 51 Jefferson, provides a ten-week tuition-free program for divorced, separated, and widowed homemakers who must now become the sole support for their families. Information sessions are held every Tuesday, from 1:00-2:30 PM. For more information, call 461-6117.

THE DOWNTOWNERS include concerned students, faculty, staff and administrators along with representatives of downtown churches and the community-at-large. Some of our services include:

- Being a vehicle to inter-school cooperation in areas of mutual concern;
- Providing educational, social, and recreational events;
- Making available counseling and referral services;
- Sharing information through an established communications network;
- Linking students, faculty, and staff to community, campus, and church resources;
- Being a caring presence in the downtown area by advocating a broader awareness of the human condition and human interdependence.

The Columbus YWCA will sponsor its third annual "Women On The Run" April 24, leaving from the YWCA, 65 S. Fourth St.

A 2-mile "fun run" will begin at 10 a.m., followed by a 5-mile endurance run at 11 a.m.

Trophies will be awarded to the top three overall finishers. Medals will go to the top three finishers in each division: under 14, 15-18, 19-24, 25-30, 31-39, 40-49 and 50 plus.

Men are invited to participate in the run, but only women will be eligible for the trophies and medals.

The first 150 entrants will receive special run shoe laces.

Registration fee is $6 in advance or $7 on run day.

Registration forms are available at the YWCA and at many other locations throughout Columbus.

Call 224-9121 for further information or to obtain a registration form.
